THE TRIAL OF THE BANDS,

We call particular attention to the Saddles exhibited by Condict, Woolley & Co., 52 Lake street. They consist of an elegant ladies' saddle and an English Shafter. They are chaste and beautiful, without elaborate ornament. These saddles were not made for exhibition, but were taken from their stock and are simply a fair sample of their style of work, and such as they are daily offering to their sustomers, so a tair sample of their says of their customers, so that those who have admired this case of sad-dles may know exactly what they can find at their establishment. We think they have shown their good judgment in exhibiting the charac-ter of work constantly on sale, instead of mak-ing competiting expensive merely for exhibition.

from which the observer could form no idea of what he might get at the establishment. We could not help but admire the splendid assortment of polished steel belts, of their own importation, and which have been ununimously admired by every horseman on the ground.

T. W. Baxter & Co., West Water street, foot of Washington, exhibit a large display of all articles in the line of Mill furnishing. Among these are two of their Portable Grain Mills, C.

W. Brown's patent, for which they claim great su seriority over other machines for the same by adjusted for the gage wheels to the plows. The chains are two small, and the line of draft was not property adjusted for the gage wheels. Before an other trial, new chains and an entire set of wheel-euters should be put on the Plows; by the use of these an even furrow slice can be cut, as well as making an easier draft. The omission of wheel outers we have condemned from the first, and not until yesterday did Fawkes concede their when purpose. These Mills are in operation at Pomeroy Brothers' Imperial Mills, in this city, and also at the Michigan City Mills of Hawkina & Chapman. The Burr stones of both new and old stock, exhibited by this firm, are very generally admired. They also exhibit a portable Flour Packer, which is in operation, and appears to be vasily admired. This invention is a great economy to millers, enabling them to dispense with much of the labor employed in hand-packing. They also exhibit six bolting cloths, of different varieties—including Dufour & Co's and the old Dutch Anker brands.

Messrs. B & Co. also have in operation one of G. B. Turner's combined Smutter and Separator, of a capacity of 50 bushels an hour, driven by a 24 inch bolt. Into this machine we saw wheat poured containing oats, chaff, and chest, and in a moment it came out again—the oats separated from the wheat, and the screenings all collected by the machine.

Baxter & Co. also exhibit one of Ad ams, Lane & Co's Water and Alarm Guage, for Steam Engines, which is certainly the simplest and most reliable invention of the kind upon the ground. Its construction is so simple that it wheel outters we have condemned from the first, and not until yesterday did Fawkes concede their value.

At 4 P. M. the trial was resumed, when 1 93-100 acres were plowed, in 354 minutes, including the time of turning. The land plowed was 53 44-100 chains in length, and the two bouts plowed was 60 100 chains in width, being within a fraction of ten feet in width, being within a fraction of ten feet in width for the eight plows.

The ground plowed was a sandy loam, filled in places with drift gravel of large size. The sod had never been broken, but well pastured, which added to the ease of breaking.

This trial demonstrated the ability of this engine for continuous work of any given length of time, when properly supplied with water and fuel. This morning, Fawkes and his Engine leaves for New York to be exhibited before the American Institute. It will probably be returned here by the first of next month for trial at Urbana, Decatur and Centralia.

We had intended to thave said more upon the subject of this plow, which has continued to attract its thousands to both the States and the United States Fair, but instead of this, we lay before the readers of the Passs and Themen.

boiler and tank are full, they nearly counterbalance each other on the axles of the driving drum.

This drum is composed of two iron heads, or "spiders" and an intermediate one; to these, thick, narrow planks, cut like staves, and fitting closely, are boiled, and form the periphery.
The adhesion is, therefore, produced by a surface of wood six feet long, which never becomes polished, and the bearing of which is slaways across the grain. There is no slipping;
the machine is started and stopped instantly;
and, and, except when propelling itself a considerable distance on turnpike and paved roads, the wear and tear is slight. This substitution of the driving roller for the ordinary sidewheels, wonderfully increases traction, and prevents sloughing in wet or yielding soil; while moderate irregularities of surface scarcely effect the onward march of the plow. Another great advantage is gained by the gearing of the drum. Instead of being attached directly to a crank on the axle of the drum, each connecting rod commincates motion to a pinion which turns easily but without shak? on the axle just wheel which by a pinion on its axis imparts motion to the cog wheel boiled to the drum.

The plows, eight in number, are attached to one frame, which is suspended by chains passing over grooved pullies in two beams, projecting from the seat to the engine. These chains communicate to the windlass in charge of the fireman in front, by which the gang of plows may be gaised or lowered at pleasure, and the frame of plows in drawn by other chains which are attached to the under-side of the frame of the engine.

iached to the under-side of the frame of the engine.

In answer to the several questions propounded by your Board touching the capacity and practicability of the engine for farm purposes, we find upon trial and examination as follows:

First: The weight ten tuns, as reported by Mr. Fawkes.

Second, The fuel consumed in one hour was 170 pounds, or two bushels and ten pounds of inferior coal, with one-eighth part of a cord of wood, evaporating about 1.50 gallons of water, and plowing one acre in twelve minutes (which includes tairning.)

The wood used was mostly of linn, and con-

170 pounds, or two bushels and ten pounds of inferior coal, with one-eighth part of a cord of wood, evaporating about 150 gallons of water, and plowing one acre in twelve minutes (which includes turning.)

The wood used was mostly of linn, and considerably decayed, and would have been rejected upon steamboats.

Third—The amount of traction on different grades of land would be a matter difficult to determine, with the facilities in the hands of the Committee. We had the engine run up the various grades of the Pair grounds, passing into a gully, with the plows awung in the rear, which struck on one bank as the main roller was raising the other, which overpowered the engine, but upon detaching the plows, the machine moved out without the least difficulty. Upon measurement, the grade was found to be one foot vertical to four on the horizontal line.—Steam, by the indicator, was marked at only 62°—100° being his ordinary pressure.

Fourth—The friction produced by the pressure against the shoulders of the axies, instead of being fair on the journals (which are of least size), may possibly make a slight waste of power in running across inclined planes. The wear and tear would be the same as with any other sterm-engine used for locomotion.

The engine can safely be run across an inclined plane of 50°, because of its great breadth of base (six feet)—the, principa part of the boiler, the heavy fire box, and a great portion of the machinery, being below the centre.

Fifth: We have previously stated that an acrecould be plowed in twelve minutes; but an examination of the following computations will demonstrate its actual performance. A strip of hand, 240 yards long and 20 feet wide, was plowed in four minutes; and the headlands of 50 feet were crossed, one in 27 seconds, the other in 30—the plows being elevated and lowered to and from the ground in the time.

ployed, and in one hour be jacked up and fur nish power to those of large size.

Nath: The fire-box being within fourteen inches of the ground, the machine would run without injury through water twelve inches deep; it was run by us over cround where by hand pressure a lath was forced downward niteen inches, and on examination we were of the impression that the actual compaction of the surface by the machine was not over one hach Horses crossing the sleogh sank to their futoks Childs' Engrating Rooms. 117# Randolph Steel.

THE TROTTING MATCH.

Flora Temple and Princess at the Ga den City Course.

VIVE LA HUMBUG.

Yesterday morning it was announced in al the city papers that the celebrated trotters Flo ra Temple and Princess, would compete on the Garden City course in the afternoon, for a purs of "Two Thousand Dollars." The fame of both orses had spread far and wide, and besides t anxiety on the part of many hundreds to wit ness a test of speed between them, there were thousands who had a curiosity to look on the animals which had created such a furore in the

for a "heavy purse," was received with no small delight by the admirers of horse flesh. The hour announced was half-past three o'clock in the afternoon; but long before that time, every old nag that could be hunted up among livery and other stables of the city were en-gaged to carry loads to the Garden City Course and by three o'clock Cottage Grove avenue was lined for several miles with one of the most miscellaneous collections of bipeds and quad-rupeds ever witnessed in this city. Omnibuses carriages, buggies ,wagons, and everything that had wheels on, were jostling each other in the sand of Lake Michigan, which extends over the road to the track. The scene was amusing and

The other, a ten horse power and vermillion colored separator is a monarch in its way. It needed no polish or extra finish. The machines of this cleas have been modelled after the pioneer, built by the proprietors of this machine, more than 80 years ago. They have steadily performed the one object to make a good machine, and keep it up in every way to the demands of an improving age. With this view we notice they have an endless bill or carrier to elevate the siraw twenty feet or more upon a stack, thind, and are well worthy of public pairwings.

An old favorite, Danford's Nower and Resper, of Geneva, with double cutters, has gone through aome new improvements. A wooden frame, strong and very simple, is substituted for that of iron. This is one of the few matchines that will move through out hay, wet and chines that will mow through out hay, wet and damaged, even a hay cock, without clogging. It has friends that will swear by it to the last-

The ladies have come in some way to regard it as their friend, though it never presumes to enter the sacred sanctuary of the kitchen (would that it were always sacred to comfort and composure) they see dissipating before its approach hoards of dusty, hungry, impatient workmen. The husband pleases his spouse by many an assurance that "she shall have loss bard work to do this summer through harvesting, for he has bought a header which he and the boys can use themselves without extra help." It is certainly a great labor saver, or three other men each with a team and large coal box wagon receive the grain as it falls from the elevator and baul it to the stack where an ther man is employed in receiving it. Thus with four or five men and as many pair of When the grain is dry and weather fine it may be stacked in narrow ricks with safety. Under less favorable circumstances a circulation

CARTER'S ANTI-PRICTION BRAPER.

This, too, is a western invention, brought out and tested in two harvests by Mr. Curtis of this city. It operates on an improved cam princi-ple. The pitman is suspended in a kind of stir-rup, which operates to diminish the friction. We notice some alterations in the frame. A we wrinkle in the way of an accommodating finger guard. A reel that is a reel, after the old Nantucket shilor style of making ivory reels for domestic use. Mr. C. appears to have hit upon an excellent application of the cam principle, and shows real genius in his inventions and improvements.

When the wise man gave his people to understand that their day had seen all the new things under the san that were or should be brought forth, we question if inspiration took him across the great waters, and gave him a peep into the workshop where J. P. Mauny of Rockford conceived and executed the design of a machine which reaps, rakes and binds the golden harvests faster than many of Solomon's men servents and mattlens could do. Suraly of the vests faster than many of Sousses's men servants and maidens could do. Surely of the making of many machines there is no end, nor will be, until invention has pushed its flights much farther than ever yet attained. We observe that this old patent appears now to have many friends among the good indicated.

THE STATE OF EUROPE.

The Overtised Mail acrived at it. Louis on Wednesday. We have the following items:

On the morning of August 16th, Louis Napoleon was hung in effect from the Bagataff in frost of the French Hobit at San Jose, open which stuff so lately floated the tricolor of France in honor of the victories recently achieved by French valor. Frenchmen about San Jose are now generally "down" on the Emperor. It had been proposed to fire a grand astute in that town in honor of Napoleon's fete day, but the news of peace disgusted the projectors, and the great THE ENIGRATION.—The Placerville Observings that emigration is slowly and steadily pon The EMORATION.—The PlaceTime Control was ys that enigration is slowly and steadily pouring in upon us. The emigrants all appear to be in excellent health, and their stock is in unusually fine condition.

A shooting affray occurred in Caraon Valley on the 11th, between Wm. Neighly and Jim Lilly, in which Neighly was shot in the neck, and fully in the hand. The affair took place at L. Olids ranchs.

The OLD STATE HOUSE DESTROYED.—The building known as the Old State House, at Vallejo, was destroyed by fire on Saturday. It was owned by Capt. Frisbie, and valued at $35,000. It was set on fire. The fiames communicated to a small building belong belonging to George Wratton, Esq., of Sonomo, which was also consumed.

When. Count Reisset threasened the Marquis Capponi, with French intervention in case Tuscany should not be sorry for Tuscany, but still more for the Emperor Napoleon!" His words made a deep unpression at Paris.

The French amnesty, sooned by Louis Blanc, Victor Hugo and General Changarnier, has been accepted by Felix Pyat, by Victor Scholcher, and by the great majority of the exiled Erenchmen. Proudhon returns, too, and Paschal Duprat, and so many others whose voices were amowhat disagreeable to Napoleon, and who are now, of course, silenced.

At Vienna, the Court became frightened by Napoleon's boldness, so much the more since Bourquency has already reminded Count Colloredo that an amnesty was one of the points of the Villafranca settlement, and that his own master having discharged his obligation in the most thorough manner, wishes now to see how the Court of Vienna understands that point, not even the Venetion and Modences prisoners of the Villafranca settlement, and that his own master having discharged his obligation in the most thorough manner, wishes now to PERTILE VALLET IN THE SIERRA NEVADA.—It has been reported that along the eastern alone of the Sierra Fevada in about the latitude 35 or 36 degrees, there are large and fertile valleys with a milder clime than that which blesses Carson. A SUBTERRANEAN OIL FOUNTAIN.—A company of capitalists from Yankeedom, in 1849, leased the Bock Oil Springs, near Titusville, Penn., who did not begin operations until May lass when they undertook to bore for asls, or to find the source of the oil, which is so common along the banks of Oil Creek. Last week, at the depth of seventy-one feet he struck a fissure in the rock through which he was boring, when to the surprise and joy of everyone, he found he had tapped a vein of oil and water, yeilding four hundred gailons of pure oil to every twenty-four hours.

The pamp now in use throws only five gallons per minute of water and oil into a large vat, when the oil rises from the top and the water runs out from the bottom. In a few days they will have a pump of three times the capaity of the one now in use, and then from ten to twelve hundred gallons of oil will be the daily yield.

The Dundaik Democrat, after expressing its disabelief that the fate of Wolfe Tone in '95 is reserved for its more modern hero of '59, observes:

If he is coming to France, he would not have ventured there without knowing the footing on which he is to stand. Should the invasion take place, and that Ireland is to be visited by the formidable Zouaves, John Mitchel would have no objection, we suspect, to accompany them; and the worst of it is that we are iil prepared, owing to the Crime and Outrage Act, to resist any such invasion. Mr. Mitchel knows all our weak points; and our opinion is that he would lose no time in going round to land in Connaught or Bantry Bay, but would deal holdly on the capital and seize the Castle, and all the arsenals in Dubtin. He would, we fear, strike at once at the heart of our power, and scatter, us like chaff before the wind before we could organize our forces. Among the Young Ireland party there was no one but John Mitchell capable of losding an army of liberation. He was a man of iron will and indomitable courage. We believe he possessed the boidness and energy which would inspire his followers to rival the soldiers of any other nation in deeds of heroism. He is a man to decide quickly, and to carry out his purpose with an uncertage judgment and a vigorous arm, the would have the men of all diacricis either with him or against him, and would deal roughly with all who should desire to stand on neutral ground. Such a man as this would prove a formidable foet to English power in Ireland; and, although he might run some risks, it is certain that he would not be so easily caught at a Wolfe Tone. If Mr. Mitchels visit to Europe be to sid the invasion which the English seem to expect, he will have no mercy for John Bull, and will more than rival Garibald in hes turious onsets against the Great Britons.

THE CITY

In the confasion and haste of our report yesterday morning, we were made to state that the entire square, bounded by West Lake, North Jefferson, Fulton and Clinton Streets, was consumed. This is a mistake. From the Enginehouse formerly occupied by No. 8, on Lake St., to the corner of North Jefferson St.; on North Jefferson to Fusion and on Fulton to the Lead Works, the buildings were all, or nearly all, saved. This district includes Phillips' packing house and some other prominent buildings.—With this exception, the outline of the fire, as given by us, was correct.

We should do injustice to our gallant firemen, did we neglect to say that their efforts to stay the progress of the flames were well and judi-

STRACUSE, Sept. 16.—The Convention unani mously instructed the delegates chosen at it session last night to represent the State at th Charleston Convention, to act and vote as unit.

The Convention adjourned with hearty cheers.

Naw York, Sept. 16.—The Times give the following resume of the proceedings of the Democratic State Convention of New York:

"The main point at issue in the Democratic State Convention of New York:

"The main point at issue in the Democratic Convention related to the spoistment of delegates to Charleston. The question was whether New York should be represented there as a unit or as a mere collection of Congressional districts. Mayor Wood and his party, desired an election by districts, as as to secure some delegates for Whee, and they have in their favor the fact that such a mode of selection gives the widest channe for the people to express their preferences. There were two delegates from New York at Charleston. This has been the case pretty regularly at all the National Conventions of the Democratic party for some years past, and has deprived this State of weight and consideration in making Presidential nominations. The desire to avoid this fatal mistake in this instance, was thwarted by the adroit proceedings of Wood."

From Washington.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The late convention between Great Britain and the Republic of Guatamila has not excited a renewal of angry controversy between this country and Great Britain as was recently predicted by the Euglish press. On the contrary both governments are still animated by the hope that Central American difficulties will be happily adjusted. The larger part of the Baitze had never been the subject of actual survey, as was officially declared by Lord Gray in 1836, and the above named Convention it is said merely definitely fixes its territorial limits, which act was intended by Guatamila as a barrier to British encroachment on its soil.

This arrangement is claimed to be in accordance with the Dallas-Cheendon treaty, a clause of which is to this effects substantially consenting to such an arrangement, having been ratified by the United States Senate, while the treaty itself was defeated by that body owing to a clause therein of an anti-slavery character.

Latest from Port Au Prince---President Geffrard's Daughter Assassinated.

Sackytlle. Sept. 16.—The brig Baltimore arrived here this evening, bringing Port Au Prince advices to the sti inst.

Gen. Prophet, Ex-Minister of the Interior, and his son are among her passengers.

The daughter of President Geffrard was shot dead while sitting in her father's chair at the palace gardens on the evening of the 3d inst.

Great excitement prevailed in consequence. It having evidently been the design of the assassin to shoot the President himself. There savery little business doing.

Capt. Wm. Gillespie of the brig Mary A. Forest arrived this A.M., from Bahia, and reports that on the 3d inst, that port was visited by a most violent gale which did considerable durage to the shipping. Business was suspended three or four days in consequence. A Prussian ship went ashore and was totally lost.

The Falls of Ningara, Thousands of more able pens than mine hi attempted to describe Ningara, both in pri and verse—and but few have succeded in g ing may definite or acurate idea of the realities where succeded and the whole phenomenon in the grand chain springs, rivers and lakes, that drain the whonthern part of North America. whole phenomenon in the grand chan of springs, rivers and lakes, that drain the whole northern part of North America, from the Lake of the Woods to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, must be embraced and conceived to give a comprehensive understanding of the actuality, the grandeur and sublimity of the great cataract. The waters of Lake Superior alone cover an area of 21,000 square miles, or 13,440,000 acres, the surface of which is 1,043 feet above tide water. The whole of the four great Lakes above the falls cover about 100,000 square miles, with an average depth of at least 500 feet. All of this vast accumulation of waters gathered from the drainings of half a continent, have no other outlet to the ocean than the St. Many's, St. Clair and Nisgara Rivers, to the St. Lawrence. This surface of the waters in Lake Eric is 322 feet above Lake Ontario, and this fall of water is made in the Nisgara river in a distance of thirty-six miles, with a channel varying from two miles to a quarter of a mile in width. "Jethro, sir," was the prompt answer.
"Why, you little dog, Jethro was his father." "Why, you little dog, Jethre was his fatherin-law."

Then putting the question to four or five others by name, not one of whom could answer, he berated them soundly for their carelessness and inattention in saying, "When you were reading last week, William Cook read the verse costaining the name of Moses' father, and have you all forgotten it already?"

Just then a young man caught the name and unable to repeat the verse from the Bible, repested part of a line from Milton:

By hard begging, and through the intercession of Mr. Seaton, the writer has been enabled to procure for his little book of agreeable personalities the two following notes, addressed to ladies who were among Mr. Webster's most intimate friends. The second one will explain itself, but the first needs a word of introduction. The young lady to whom it was addressed had been spending a social evening at Mr. Webster's house, and on account of the rain had substituted a borrowed hood for her own bonnet, and the note in question was delivered with the bonnet, at the residence of the lady, by Mr. Webster, while driving to his office next mornality. "The potent rod of Amram's son," &c.

"Ah," said Mr. Rando ph, "that is the way yon learn your Bible; get it out of other books, what little yon know of it;" and with an exreadingly solenn manner and tone, added, "and so itis with us all; and a terrible proof of our depravity it is, that we can relish and remember anything better than The Book."

The very utterance, simple as it was, filled very one with awe, and made him feel guilty, whitst at the same time it imparted reverence for the Bible which was never felt before, and which from one mind at least, will never be offaced. Mr. Randolph was so well pleased, however, with the young man who quoted from his favorite author, that in a short time as soon, perhaps, as he could get from Richmond, he presented him with a beautiful copy of Milton's

But it has proved tiself a faithful keeper of scerets, and would answer none of my questions. It only remained for me to attempt to surprise it into confession by pronouncing sundry names, one after another. It seemed quite unmoved by most of these, but at the apparently unexpected mention of one, I thought its ribbands decidedly fluttered.

"I gave it my parting good wishes; hoping that it might never cover an aching head, and that the eyes which it protects from the ears of the sun, may know no tears but those of joy and affection.

I thought, a large party made up, as I presumed, of black coats. I answered the note, and declined the invitation, with a thousand apologies of colds, headaches, engagements, &c. This note was sealed, and superscribed, and the boy was taking it, to carry over, when Mr. C. suggested to me, what I had not noticed, that Mrs. S. was one of the inviters! This reversed everything. I then cared nothing for engagements, bid defiance to colds and catarrhs, and hastened off an acceptance. Such is the power——; but I must restrain my pen.

Hoard & Hoes, telligenor:
The day before the famous Hulsemann letter was transmitted to Congress, Mr. Webster sent it to Mr. Seaton to read. After it was returned, and on the morning it was to be sent to the Senate, it occurred to Mr. Seaton that the word We cordially invite our old gustomers and the pu visit them in their new quarters, and bring with their friends, and examine our new and elegant goods, when the contract of t ane, it occurred to Mr. seaton that he word "patch," as applied to a great empire, would appear rather undiplomatie, or beneath the dignery of such a state paper, and like an attempt to be a little to the adversary government, and therefore he dispatched a note to Mr. Webster, suggesting, if not too late, the substitution of another word. He received by his measurager the following reply:

"The decay was done before I got your note." Fashionable Jewelry, SILVER WARE, PANCY GOODS And all other goods usually kept in first-class Jewelry Stores. CHICAGO. For City Matters on Fourth P. MB. LINCOLN IN OHIO We print this morning one of the al most searching of Mr. Lincoln's publi es, delivered at Columbus, Ohio, o ast, and reported for the PRESS AND by the gentleman who furnished our with the Lincoln-Douglas debates I From the Columbus and Cincinnati learn that Mr. Lincoln's first effort in been received with delight by the Rep of that State, as fully sustaining the ges which he gained over Douglas in decidedly on the result of the co debates last fall; and that it will the consecutive following of the slaves as made up by the Democratic party the progress of events, from the po and complete, riddling the Douglas say from stem to stern, and press slave code and slave trade issues, dovetailed connection with patent-r eignty, in the very clearest light. We coln in exposing Douglas' desertion of clude slavery, either by "unfriendly le Illinois campaign last year, Douglas nothing about the right of the people ritory to prohibit slavery, but has fa This he does in the copyright essay late speeches in Ohio. Even in h with Jeff. Davis in the Senate, as the "unfriendly legislation" dodge menced prating about the right alavery as other property—horses, horned cattle. Mr. Lincoln illustra ference between the ideas thus: undertakes to exclude a horse e means to put him on the out property he means to keep him is him, and do anything else that may ded in the phrase, "control as prope Supreme Court will take good care ry is not controlled to death in the This is a new and fatal discovery maze of Douglasisms ventilated i right esany. It is patent as su Popular Sovereignty is abandoned by popular sovereign himself. He no l tends that his principle is sufficient or eject slavery from the limits of a but simply that it may be con those limits, subject to a beach of I falsifications in the patented essay larly in the omission of the Jefferso nance of 1787-are exceedingly p forcible. So, also, is his argument principle which carries slaves into a speech is full of sharp point think it will compare favorably with twelve months. The telegraph omitted to bring us ceedings of the regular Democra Convention of New York after Convention of New York after do Wood's short boys had Siryker, Dickinson, & Co., out of The New York papers supply the deficit substantially as follows: Wo hitters immediately adjourned to ed the ticket likely to be nominate regulars, they proceeded gravely to it in advance of the other gang. conclave was not even the Co Hard Shell party. Hards and Softs diated him—Cagger and Dickinson, and Rynders, Stryker and Coch ting harmoniously in the subseque wood's mob was made up exclusive doggeries, cribs and cock pits of and Brooklyn. After they had ad Wood's private room, the Conventio Stryker limped to the platform, R Dickinson declared the party to fairly represented, and the usual transacted.
